SPRING BREAK 2024

Early sun-protective behaviors can have a lasting impact

Source: Harvard Health Publishing
July 30, 2020
By Shinjita Das, MD, Contributor

Early sun-protective behaviors can have a lasting impact on the development and appearance of photoaging, and can reduce the risk of developing skin cancer. Beginning in infancy, children should be kept out of direct sunlight and covered with sun-protective clothing with an ultraviolet protective factor of 50+. Sunscreens are safe for infants starting at 6 months.

During adolescence and beyond, a tanned appearance is often associated with youthfulness and health. Instead of using a tanning bed, opt for a sunless tanning cream to achieve a similar effect — but be sure to apply a sunscreen, since tanning creams generally don't contain sun-protective factor unless explicitly stated on the label. Another option is to apply a tinted sunscreen.

- Avoid peak hours of the sun's intensity (generally between 10am and 2pm) and seek shade when outdoors.
- Wear sunscreen, even when it's cloudy, raining, or snowing:
 - broad-spectrum UVA/UVB coverage
 - SPF 30+, which blocks 97% of the sun's rays (no sunscreen blocks 100% of the rays)
 - water-resistant (be sure to reapply every two hours when outside or after getting wet or toweling off)
- Wear sun-protective clothing (UPF 50+) like broad-brimmed hats, long-sleeved shirts, and pants

Looking for reading ideas for your Spring Break? Some great new releases:

South of Somewhere by Kalena Miller

Twelve-year-old Mavis has grown up fabulously rich in Chicago, but everything changes when the FBI comes knocking and her mom goes on the run. Mavis finds herself living in the rural Midwest, babysitting to make money like so many teens her age. When she starts receiving secret messages from her mom, Mavis must determine if her mother is truly guilty, and whether she even wants to know the answer to that question in the first place.

Not traveling over Spring Break? Some activities to consider:

Reset Your Wardrobe

A great time to clean your closet, sell some old clothes, and treat yourself to some new Spring clothing.

Host a Spring Break Movie Marathon

Grab the popcorn & invite some friends over and Netflix some classics or new movie selections!

Host Your Own Spring Break Bake-Off

Pull up some bake-off shows and challenge your friends to a Spring Bake-off! Fun time in the kitchen AND delicious rewards!

Travel locally

Choose a destination you've never visited that's local. Drive out with family members or friends and enjoy an afternoon experiencing a new eatery or shop.

Take a Hike

Find a local trail and get some steps in while enjoying the outdoors! Physical activity is a great de-stressor during a break from school!

Spring Break Recipe Orange Dreamsicle

Ingredients

- 4 teaspoons grated orange zest
- 2-1/2 cups orange juice
- 1 cup half-and-half cream
- 3/4 cup superfine sugar
- 2 bottles (750 milliliters each) sparkling apple juice or Ginger ale
- Optional: fresh orange slices

Directions

1. Place the first 4 ingredients in a blender; cover and process until sugar is dissolved. Transfer to an 8-in. square dish. Freeze, covered-6 hours or overnight.
2. To serve, place 1/4 cup orange mixture in each glass. Top with sparkling juice or Ginger ale. Garnish oranges & serve immediately.

Cornell Cooperative's 4H Horse Communications and Public Presentations

JOB!

On Saturday, March 23rd, area 4-H members delivered presentations at the Cornell Cooperative Extension of St. Lawrence County. Area 4H youth, ages 8 to 18, prepared presentations on various topics including the history of Lacrosse, how to shoot a hockey goal, everything about bearded dragons, how to make brownies, cattle roping and rodeos, and painting flowers.

We wanted to extend a BIG KUDOS to all participants! This experience helps members gain confidence, public speaking skills, experience in answering spontaneous questions asked by judges, and subject matter content. All of Saturday's participants did an excellent job!

WELL DONE

AWESOME!

Bottom photo is Rosie, a student from Canton's Banford Elementary, presented on the history of Lacrosse.

Both are members of the North Country Warriors Club.

Solar Eclipse 2024

April 8, 2024

What?

A total solar eclipse occurs when the moon crosses directly in front of the daytime sun .

Thirty-one million people living in the path stretching from Texas to Maine to will be able to see the total eclipse . This happens when the moon completely covers up the sun. Those outside the path of totality will see a partial eclipse. The time when the moon blocks a small portion to almost all of the sun is considered a partial eclipse.

NASA estimates that 99% of people living in the U.S. will be able to see a partial or total eclipse next month.

When?

The Solar Eclipse visits North America on April 8, 2024. The duration of totality will be up to 4 minutes and 27 seconds.

The last solar eclipse occurred on August 21, 2017 and its totality lasted for 2 minutes and 40 seconds. Twenty million people from Oregon to South Carolina saw its totality.

The next total solar eclipse visible in the United States will be on August 23, 2044. That's twenty years from now!

Who?

People living in these 13 states will be able to see the total eclipse:

- Texas
- Oklahoma
- Arkansas
- Missouri
- Kentucky
- Illinois
- Indiana
- Ohio
- Pennsylvania
- New York
- Vermont
- New Hampshire
- Maine

Why?

Wearing proper eclipse viewing glasses is very important.

Looking directly at the Sun is unsafe except during the brief total phase of totality when the Moon entirely blocks the Sun's bright light.

During totality, nocturnal wildlife sometimes wakes up thinking it's nighttime. Non-nocturnal wildlife might head to sleep.

The longest duration of totality during the 2024 eclipse will last up to 4 minutes and 26 seconds over central Texas.

Planets and stars can be seen during the daytime with the naked eye during a total solar eclipse.

Total solar eclipses recur in the same place roughly once every 360 years.

Safety

The only safe way to look directly at the uneclipsed or partially eclipsed Sun is through special-purpose solar filters, such as eclipse glasses or hand-held solar viewers. Homemade filters or personal sunglasses are not safe for looking at the Sun. Dark sunglasses are not safe to use either.

Follow these simple guidelines:

- Use only ISO-certified-safe solar eclipse glasses and viewers.
- Keep them on while the Sun is not yet fully eclipsed.
- Once the sky suddenly turns dark, you can take off your eclipse glasses or viewers for only the few minutes of darkness.
- As soon as the bright Sun begins to reappear, put your solar eclipse glasses on to glance at the remaining partial phases.

According to the American Academy of Ophthalmology, looking at the sun without proper eye protection for even a short time can harm your eyes and risk permanently damaging your retina.

Solar retinopathy, or blindness, has occurred when people have looked directly at the sun.

The American Astronomical Society has provided a list of approved manufacturers of ISO certified safe solar eclipse glasses. Click for link.

Additionally, ISO certified safe viewing glasses are available in St. Lawrence County. Local libraries have been offering glasses and some are available to purchase through the St. Lawrence County Chamber of Commerce for $3.00.

Timing

In Canton:

- Start of eclipse: 2:11 pm
- Start of Totality: 3:23 pm
- Max Eclipse: 3:25 pm
- End of Totality: 3:27 pm
- End of eclipse: 4:35 pm

Breakout Sessions

Sugar on the Brain

Americans love to eat/drink sweet foods and beverages. The trouble is that too much added sugar from these foods and drinks increases our risk of getting sick. How do we know how much is ok? How much added sugar is actually in our food and drinks? Join Registered Dietitian Jennifer Pfotenbauer to learn how to read food labels and measure out how much added sugar is in what we consume. You will be surprised!

In Her Shoes: Living With Domestic Violence

Step into the shoes of those impacted by domestic violence with NAHEC's immersive classroom simulation! Experience powerful narratives inspired by real women, shedding light on the complexities of intersectional identities and the challenges they face in seeking help. Walk through their stories and gain invaluable insights into their struggles. Engage in meaningful discussions led by NAHEC experts, aimed at breaking down stereotypes, reducing victim-blaming, and dismantling barriers to care.

Tobacco Toll

From cartoon characters to bright colors, Big Tobacco has spent big bucks on getting kids hooked. The marketing tactics of tobacco conglomerates are grossly deceptive. Take their word for it: teens are their "Replacement Smokers." Dive into the manipulative and deceptive marketing tactics of the tobacco industry that continue to successfully exploit vulnerable populations.

"The After Party"

Safe Vibes Only; Party Drugs & Harm Reduction

Join us for an engaging and eye-opening session that delves into the world of "party" drugs! The session will screen, "What's in My Baggie?" - A documentary film that follows partygoers across America to different music festivals and tests their drugs. Learn about current drug trends, common adulterants found in "party" drugs, and how to best protect yourself and friends from overdose and/or death. The screening will be followed by a Q&A with Missi Wooldridge, MPH, a thought leader in the field of nightlife harm reduction, interviewee in the film, and alum and adjunct professor of Public Health & Human Performance at SUNY Potsdam.

Be part of the movement that empowers responsible choices, informed-decision making, and a lifestyle that prioritizes access to life saving tools over stigma and punishment.

Walk away with a free Fentanyl test trip, Narcan to reverse an opioid overdose, and the knowledge and skills needed to party proper(ly)/ensure safe vibes only/dose with caution (dependent on chosen title)!
